Celebrating 20 years!

Perviously, we mentioned Wiley tapped into Sharon and Cindy to help educate the Partner network. What were we sharing? One topic was building client relationships.

Wiley recognized how Wings of Success listened to their clients and didn't just "sell" them.

We performed needs assessments, understood their goals and strategies, and helped match the right tools and services to their needs. We also ensured we pointed them toward other assessments if we didn't think DiSC® or the different tools we represented were the right fit.

Sharon has often said she's a "Talent Development professional" first and foremost. She wants to make sure our clients get the right solution, not just any solution.

To this day, Wiley continues to seek input from the DevelopPEOPLE team as they evolve their products and services. We are active Beta testers and often involve our clients in providing feedback to Wiley during product development.
